Declaration Of Independence

Prints Document

A Miamian by adoption, and a U.S.-citizen-to-be has undertaken the staggering job of printing the Declaration of Independence in 55 languages.

in the 55-language project.

"I do not seek financial aid,"

Dr. Hollo explains, "But I need help in procuring the type. Print for some of the languages I intend to use is not available anywhere but in the country of its origin. The government is the only agency which

Dr. Joseph D. Hollo, Hungarian - born doctor of laws and political science, who with his wife now lives at 127 NE 5th St., has had some experience in multilingual editing. His "Declaration of Independence of the United States in 10 Languages" already has been distributed to 30 nations throughout the world.

While Dr. Hollo is a professional writer - he has written or edited "Life, Love, Death", "Hourglass", "Bolivar", "Marti", and "Venezuela" - the Declaration book has amounted to a labor of love.

Pays For Mailing

"Of the 4,500 copies printed, I have sent more than 1,400 as gifts to chief executives, ministers of education and governors in all parts of the world," he says.

The result has been a loss of $570 to him in mailing costs. But, he hopes, a gain in understanding of the Declaration among the peoples of other na-

Among the 30 nations whose governments have purchased copies of the book-the proceeds from these sales defrayed printing costs, but not mailing—are India, Rorea, Japan and Turkey, whose languages are not included.

The 10-language book is printed in English, French, German, Hebrew, Hungarian, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, Spanish and Swedish. The cover bears the picture of the Signing of the Declaration by Sar-ah Ball Dodson. The center page is an antiqued parchment reproduction of the original declaration.

The book is not sold in the United States.

Needs The Type

Dr. Hollo has written to Alen W. Dulles, director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, asking his aid ire it for Dr. Hollo speaks Hungarian, Spanish, English and German and a little French, he says. He has lived in the U.S. for almost three years, coming here from Venezuela. He was in the Latin American country seven years and became a Venezuelan citizen.

DR. HOLLO

STATINTL

CPYRGHT

CPYRGHT